Non-Walking Singles

Current Dictionary entry

1. A singles game wherein the players shoot from the same end of the court for all frames. Often, there are two players at the head of the court competing in a non-walking singles game and two other players at the foot competing in a separate non-walking singles game, with both games scored on the same scoreboard but in separate columns or rows. If only one game is being played on the court, usually someone is assigned to the court to be the pusher. 2. A singles tournament format wherein players compete in matches of non-walking singles games. Syn: NWS.
